Enhancing Capacity to Provide Services for People Who Use Substances: A Needs and Assets Assessment, Canadian AIDS Society, 2010

This bilingual publication, which is a follow-up report to 2008's Learning from Each Other, explores the perspective of those who provide services to people who use substances. The document summarizes the results of findings from a community-based, multi-phased assessment of the needs and assets of the Canadian AIDS Society's member organizations with respect to providing services for people who use substances. It identifies the effective and challenging aspects of their work and shares the successes and lessons of experienced practitioners in the field of harm reduction. CATIE Ordering Centre N°: ATI-26301.

PROS & CONS: A Guide to Creating Successful Community-Based HIV and HCV Programs for Prisoners, 2nd Edition, PASAN, 2011

This manual is intended to be a resource and reference guide to provide comprehensive community-based HIV and HCV programming within prisons. Whether you are new to prison work or want to expand your knowledge, this manual will also guide your efforts for building relationships and trust, facilitating discussions, advocating for your clients and supporting them with pre- and post-release planning. CATIE Ordering Centre N°: ATI-26374.

These resources and others are available through the CATIE Ordering Centre. CATIE provides resources, free-of-charge, to healthcare providers and other frontline service workers across the country. Most of the resources are available for preview or downloading in the PDF format.
